

University of Florida

AAW Association for Academic Women

and the Office of Academic Technology present

Upgrade Your Teaching With Technology! A Hands-On Lab

The Hub, Room 221

Tuesday, Oct. 14, 1:30 – 4:30 p.m.

or

Wednesday, Oct. 15, 9 a.m. – noon.

Seating limited. RSVP BY FRIDAY, OCT. 10 to Joyce Adams, Division of Continuing Education: jadams@dce.ufl.edu or 392-1711, ext. 215.

Faculty and academic professional members are invited to attend this valuable workshop to learn about technology in the classroom and online courses. Attendees will practice the basics of online course management, classroom resources and interactive response systems in lectures, videoconferencing, streaming and other video services in an active laboratory environment. Most important, they will become familiar with sites where technology assistance and support for faculty is available. The program will feature:

- “The Provost’s Initiative for Online Course Development,”
by Fedro Zazueta, Director
- “Classroom Support,” by Mark McCallister, Assistant Director
- “Technologies for Online Learning—Best Practices,”
by Jennifer Smith, Instructor Designer
- “How to Manage Online Classes using Tools and Media,”
by Becky Williams, Instructor Designer

2008-09 AAW Board: President Debra Amirin, President-Elect Dr. Rebecca Rainer Pauly, Advisory to Higher Administration Paula Fussell, Program Chair Isabel Silver, Treasurer Lori Driscoll, Publicity Chair Laurie Taylor, Historian & Parliamentarian Dr. Carol Kem, Past-President Cheri Brodeur.

The University of Florida Association for Academic Women (AAW) provides opportunities for women faculty and professional staff to network and enhance their knowledge about the University of Florida and their work environment.

AAW programs are also open to non-members, though members are offered the opportunity to reserve a seat before each event is opened to others. Members also can take advantage of reduced prices for functions where a charge is involved. You may join at any time by sending in your membership form (available on the Web along with updated program information at <http://grove.ufl.edu/~aaw/index.shtml>). Our modest $25 annual dues are used primarily for fellowships to female UF doctoral students.