

EVERYONE IS TALKING ABOUT SAME-SEX HAND-HOLDING DAYS...

"I'm completely shocked with this holding hands day idea/scheme...people aren't discriminated against. I'm not discriminated against as a straight man...[Gays] are using discrimination as a scapegoat...You're assumption is that ALL gays are discriminated against...Don't gays discriminate against straight people? This false sense of and attempt no establish pride makes me want to vomit.

"If gays aren't comfortable on an everyday basis, where they have to have a SPECIAL day to hold hands, then they have no pride at all and are weak and uncomfortable people who deserve nothing less than to be 'discriminated' against."
